brom the Onto Statesman
An amusing story is told of the late.
Governor Brough, by an elderly gen tleman of this city, who formerly re sided in Manetta, and who was a companion of the Governor in his younger days, when he (Brough) was an ap prentice in a printing office. The gen tiomen who relates the story vouches for us truthfulness, and as it has never been in print, we produce it.

The gentleman who relates the story says that, many years ago, when Gov Brough and himself were boys togeth or, at Marietta, there lived ever on the Virginia side of the river an old negrowho was famous for and wide throughout the country for the excellence of are watermelons, and the old darkey was the fortunate possessor of a very savage buildog, which was likewise tamous throughout that section for his ability to get away with anything in human form that had the audicity to invade the sacred precincis of that melon patch, and the boys thereabous viewed that dog with a feeling (kin to awe, and respected for more than they loved him But their was one boy in Marietta who wasn t afraid of that dogs and who made his boast that he d fix him, and that boy was Johnny Brough, the then printer's divil, but future Governor of Ohio

One night, in the height of the witerinelen serson, the boys crime to the conclusion that they would like to fave some of the old darkey's melons It wis an easy matter to get a skill and row loress the river, but the one gicit difficulty to be overcome was how to get that awe inspiring dog interested in something clee than watching the melon patch. The boys put then heads together and went into Committee of the Whole to devise ways and mems of ctting that dag out of the way ally Johnny Brough innounced to the boys that hed by him if they would only go along to carry the melons to the skill. All choits to find out the exact plan by which Johnny was to close the mouth of the dag were un fonsignment availing, and finally the boys consented to go and trust to the ingenuity of their leader. The skill was procured, and cre long the boys were on the 'sacred soil' of the melon patch When, lo I the dog cume at them, with fite in his eye and thun der in his voice. The boys were greatly alarmed, but were warned by then loader to keep up their rounge and trust in him. When the dog was near enough Johnny produced from his pocket a pistol loaded to the muzzle with snuff, and let fly square in the dog's face. This gave him something to occupy his attention, and while he was working with both paws to get the snuff out of his eyes, the boys secured all the melens they winted, and got the river between their enemy and Montgomery Queen's Greus.-As Queen's company gave two performances yesterday, afternoon and evening. In the afternoon there were several hundred people present, and at night the large payilion was filled with the choicest audience we have ever seen at a circus people came out, on such short notice, than it was agreeable to Mr. Queen. To in every respect only expresses the opin to some accident about five miles from ion of everybody who was present. The whole programme was first-class. No better acrobatic performance was ever thing half so good seen here. The riding of Miss Brown was perfectly charming, while that of Mr. Fish presepted some features that were entirely act, however, was that of the chample: bareback rider, James Robinson, who, with the little son. Engene, gave the audience a most thrilling exhibition. The menageric was very fine, and if there ever was a show that is perfect in all its parts, and one conducted in a magnet worthy of the patronage of everybody, it is Montgomery Queen's.

Springfield was jealous of our bonanza. She knew gold could never be found in the black mud of her own neighborhood, and she must do something desporate to distract the attention of the public from the luring prespects held out by Decatur. They reasoned that if gold was found in paying quanti. ties near Decatur, Springfield, in six months would not have enough ablebodied men left to sweep the state house. In the language of the immertal J. N., "they are prejudiced," and we will proceed to "lift the voil." Without a doubt Mr. Matheny has been imposed upon by designing persons, and made to believe that his own eyes deceived him; for he certainly did ee gold dust washed out of the soil from the margin of Brush Creek, as did the REPUBLICAN reporter and others who accompanied the expedition. If edid not see any "salting" done, neither did any other member of the party. The "frand" part of the business exists in the imagination of citizens of Spring

Of course there are people in Decatur, prominent citizens, men decply interested in the welfare of the city," who do not believe in the discovery of gold in this county-some of them are more interested in Texas land, and have not tacon the trouble to examine into the gold discoveries; and we are safe in making the assertion that these are the men whom the Journal reporter wished to find, and whom he did find, and took their doubtful assertions as stronger evidence than the facts, as seen by his own

Another fact: The Journal reporter left here on the 3 r. m. train, and owing the city, he returned, intending to take another train later in the evening. Daring his detention, he was hunted up by a newspaper in this city, and it was from him the reporter received all the intelligence about "copper fllings," "Colorado," "California," etc. He was seen hunting for Matheny, and said he would flud him if he had to go to the depot and wait for the train to leave; and that he intended to "expose" the whole busiress, just to see what the Journal would have to say. He seemed to think it would make some fun, if nothing else.

cal specimens while on that expedition, and we are at a loss to know why we are called a botanist, for we could not properly name and classify a "blossom" on the nose of the Journal reporter.

So much for the "expose," In conclusion let us say that when the proper time comes-when the storm has subsided, and our experienced miners have had on opportunity to give the matter a thorough test, and say that no gold can be found beneath the soil of Macon county, then we will pronounce it a fraud. In the meantime we will act the part of the faithful journalist, and report such items of news as we believe to be true, or have no reason to doubt.

His advisers, in addition to Messrs. Crea-& Ewing and Judge Gallagher, of this city, are Mesers. E. H. Brackett and S. A. Goodwin, of Chicago-both of the latter being putent right lawyers of large experience and acknowledged ability.-It will be seen that the array of talent is hard to excel. The case involves a large amount of money, as the Yale Company , has been manufacturing largely ever since 1868, and we trust our enterprising townsman will make a handsome "pile" out of it, for he certainly is entitled to his claim of priority.

Mr. Bramble first goes to Washington, where he will remain a few days in se curing his claim to his recently improved box, which he asserts has many advantages over any other post office box now monufactured.

Cut them Down .-- Now is the time to finish up the work of cutting noxious weeds by the street side and in open lots. They are now full grown, and seeds will soon mature, when cutting them will be of no avail as a means of preventing their growth next year, as every plant cut down after the seeds are ripe would reproduce thousands next season. If cut now they will not to a very great extent sprout up again, and many of the Bress Lineus, cheap, at Linn & roots would die; moreover we have now a little sunshing to dry the crop and prepare it for burning. We are carnest advocates of cremation, so far as weeds

More About the Trains.

ILLINOIS GENTRAL R. R. The bridge near Moawequa on the Illinois Central R'y which caused the break in this road, is being repaired by a large force of carpenters. To-day a freight and a passenger train were safely pushed over the bridge, but as yet no engine has ventured upon it. The work of repairing is to continue until to-morrow when, it is thought, the bridge will e well repaired and as strong as it ever was. Trains will commence to run the whole length of the road to-morrow.
